Kennedy to Ask Congress Today for Increase in Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will address a joint session of Congress in person today to ask increased funds for space, foreign aid and other spending.

House Majority Leader John W. McCormack, D-Mass., interrupted debate on a $12.5 billion defense authorization bill to announce the joint session to be held at 12:30 p.m.

Among other things, Kennedy is expected to ask Congress to support a sharply increased fallout shelter program for the protection of civilians against sneak nuclear attack.

The entire message is understood to be designed to provide a powerful stimulant to the American space program and to both the military and assistance arms of U.S. foreign policy.

It has been estimated to cost around $1 billion by some informants. There will be emphasis on aid to Asian and African countries, it was understood, but less money than originally contemplated for programs of public works and other measures designed to reduce unemployment.

Kennedy's decision to appear before Congress appeared to indicate that he places special importance on his requests.

It is rare for a president to make such an address except at the start of Congress when he delivers his State of Union message, or perhaps in time of war.

Freedom Riders Must Stop Their Bus Trips, RK Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy called on Negro and white "freedom riders" yesterday to hold back on their integrated bus trips into Alabama and Mississippi.

"Innocent people may be injured," he said. "A mob asks no questions."

The attorney general issued his statement as Mississippi police arrested one group of riders in Jackson and other groups announced plans to start bus trips through the Deep South almost every day.

"A cooling-off period is needed," Kennedy said.

"It would be wise," he continued, "for those traveling through these two states to delay their trips until the present state of confusion and danger has passed and an atmosphere of reason and normalcy has been restored."

LBJ Returns From Asia

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson returned yesterday from a 29,000-mile diplomatic mission to Asia which he described as "the most challenging trip of my life."

President Kennedy and a large number of other government officials welcomed the vice president on the White House lawn as he arrived by helicopter to report to the President.

Kennedy described the vice president's tour as an American effort to indicate this country's deep concern for the cause of freedom.

Vice President Johnson said he had made clear to the leaders of Asia, at President Kennedy's request, that the United States will "make any sacrifice and risk any danger" that may be necessary in the defense of free nations against communism.

JFK Supports Exchange

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy yesterday gave his support to the tractors-for-prisoners exchange with Fidel Castro, but said the government could play no part in it.

The White House issued a statement in which Kennedy urged the public to contribute to funds with which a private committee plans to buy tractors to swap for the liberation of 1,200 men captured in the ill-fated invasion of Cuba last month by anti-Castro exiles.

At the same time, it was disclosed that Kennedy participated in getting together the group which is conducting the drive for money.

This includes Eleanor Roosevelt, Walter Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers, and Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University.

Dr. R. R. Renne Signs Three-Year Contract for Job

HELENA (AP)—Dr. R. R. Renne, president of Montana State College, who last month engaged in a heated debate through the press with Gov. Donald G. Nutter concerning economy at the Bozeman institution, has signed a three-year contract to continue in his job.

Dr. L. O. Brockmann, Northern Montana College, Havre, also signed a three-year contract.

The contract signings were announced yesterday by Russell Barthell, University Board of Regents secretary. He said that four of the state's six college presidents signed one-year contracts.

They are Dr. H. K. Newburn, MSU; Dr. Edwin G. Koch, Montana School of Mines, Butte; Dr. James E. Short, Western Montana College, Dillon; and Dr. H. L. Steele, Eastern Montana College, Billings.

After announcement of the contract signing had been made, the question was raised as to whether the salaries of Dr. Renne and Dr. Brockmann would be frozen for three years, while the other four college presidents would be able to bargain for day increases when their one-year contracts came up for renewal.

Barthell said, in his opinion, it was up to the Board of Regents to decide on any future pay raises for the university presidents, regardless of the length of their contracts.

When the Board of Regents at its April meeting voted to offer the university system presidents optional three-year contracts, the action brought bitter opposition from Governor Nutter.

Army, Air Force Departments Change '61-'62 ROTC Curricula

Army and Air Force ROTC departments have changed their curricula for the next school year. The changes will reduce the number of hours required to fulfill ROTC obligations.

The Army changes, according to Lt. Col. M. F. Moucha, professor of military science, are as follows:

MS I students will have two hours of military science classroom instruction per week autumn and spring quarters. There will be no classroom instruction winter quarter.

MS II students must take two hours of military science classroom instruction per week all three quarters.

All military science students will participate in one hour of drill per week all three quarters.

Army ROTC 1st Year Courses

In lieu of the military science class winter quarter of the freshman year, the student must at some time take one of the following elective courses to fulfill his Army ROTC obligation: Botany 121; Chemistry 101 or 121; English 201 or 202; Forestry 250; General 131; Geography 101, 201 or 380; Geology 101, 110 or 200; History 101, 102, 103, 207, 208, 215, 216, 241, 242, 243, 251, 252, 242, 285, 286 or 287; Journalism 100; Mathematics 100, 113 or 116; Microbiology and Public Health 100 or 105; Philosophy 100, 110 or 120; Physics 111 or 121; Political Science 101, 202 or 231; Psychology 110; Speech 101, 111, 112, 118 or 214 and Zoology 101, 104 or 202.

These elective courses may be applied toward fulfilling group requirements as well as ROTC.

The curriculum for MS III and MS IV students remains unchanged.

Air Force ROTC Curriculum

Changes in the Air Force ROTC curriculum, according to Col. C. E. Musgrave, professor of air science, are as follows:

AS I students must take a two or three credit University course that will meet group requirements autumn and winter quarters.

Gator Tries Swank Pool

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A missing four-foot long alligator was dragged out of swank Colonial Country Club's swimming pool about noon Thursday by a daring but puzzled young man.

Tim Jones, 24, coaxed the gator into shallow water, dived in after it, grabbed it first by the tail then by the jaws and wrestled it out of the pool.

How the gator got into the pool remained a matter of speculation.

Vergal Bourland, club manager, said the gator was the first to use the swimming pool this summer.

"It's not supposed to open until Saturday," he said.

Education Professor Honored For 'Conservation Education'

James W. Gebhart, associate professor of education, has been cited for "outstanding service in conservation education" by the Ohio Conservation Laboratory of Ohio State University, according to L. J. Carleton, dean of education.

Mr. Gebhart has a bachelor's degree from Heidelberg College and a M.S. and a Ph.D. from Ohio State University. He is general chairman of the 1961 Conservation Education Association national convention scheduled at MSU in August.

In 1960 he helped organize and direct a conservation workshop for the Federated Women's Clubs of the Pacific Northwest. He has served as director of Conservation

Spring quarter they must take a two-hour per week air science course.

AS II students will have two hours of air science instruction autumn and winter quarters and will take a two or three credit University course that meets group requirements.

All AFROTC students will have one hour of leadership laboratory per week autumn, none winter and two hours per week spring quarter.

AS III students will take a three credit University course and a one credit AFROTC course autumn quarter, a four credit AFROTC course winter quarter and a three credit AFROTC course spring quarter.

Senior AFROTC students will take a three credit University course and a one credit AFROTC course autumn, a three credit University course and a one credit AFROTC course winter and a four credit University course and a one credit AFROTC course spring quarter.

Col. Moucha said the Army changes came from the Department of Army and are a result of a study by them to get a better ROTC program.

The School of Journalism utilizes the Kaimin for practice courses, but assumes no responsibility and exercises no control over policy or content. ASMSU publications are responsible to Publications Board, a committee of Central Board. Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, New York, Chicago, Boston, Los Angeles, San Francisco. Entered as second-class matter at Missoula Montana, Subscription rate, $3 per year.

Why, And If So

At last week's Central Board meeting a good part of the time was spent discussing a film that will be made for University publicity. The lowest bid received for making the film was $5,000 to $7,000. Some of the delegates questioned the low bid wondering if ASMSU could receive what they wanted for this price. The representative from Movie Presentations Committee explained that a 27-minute film with color, sound, and musical background could be made for this price. Although the committee has only $1,700 now, it hopes to obtain the rest ($3,000 to $5,000) from ASMSU. The idea of the film and some of the $1,700 started under the Risse administration of '59-'60.

The film as now scheduled will have a setting of a senior looking back through his college life. This person will recall homecoming parade, fraternity row, homecoming game, and a variety of other activities including three shots of classrooms.

The idea of ASMSU sponsoring the film and its contents, as now planned is questionable. Why must ASMSU set up a public relations program for MSU when the administration is already spending great amounts in this field and, as yet, has not seen fit to produce a film? Are not Masquers, the band, and up to now, the ballet, and other organizations that ASMSU sends around the state enough? Must we spend $7,000, (Pres. Newburn suggested $25,000) for a movie when the administration with its large public relations budget will not?

If ASMSU must make a film, it must keep its contents restricted to the academic life of MSU. No one need tell a high school student of all the extra-curricular activities in which he might indulge. The idea of non-academic campus life need not be stressed in the high school student's mind. If this film should bring a student to MSU on any precepts other than educational, it will have failed MSU and ASMSU.

A movie of this type might stress many things. How many high school students realize there are laboratory classes outside of the sciences. Shots of forestry camp, drama students in action, journalism labs and political science trips to Helena are but a few activities that may be interesting to the students and the public. The arts and science departments and professional schools should be heavily stressed.

Universities are crowded and yet we insist on advertising for more students. If the film must be made, it must be made to attract the better students. If not, it will add to the already confused state of a large student body, the poor student, and the legislature refusing to give money for the students. Our need is not for more students, but for better students.

Togetherness or Dependence

Mooring Mast
Pacific Lutheran University

Is there any real value in mere togetherness? This is a question which comes to mind for it seems to almost be the purpose of many to promote and extol this social condition of "togetherness." But, why is it to be desired?

For one thing, you can have togetherness anywhere, anytime, with anyone by just being in a crowd or with others. In this age we seem afraid to be alone with ourselves. We are unwilling to chance being considered different or being lonely. Constantly we must be surrounded by people and "things." If we're in a room or a car alone we can't stand it, but turn on the radio or TV for companionship. Here at college it seems more stressed than ever as we eat, go to classes, live and do practically everything together. Few are brave enough to actually go into the cafeteria by themselves and eat a meal, or to attend a campus activity by themselves but must constantly be with at least one or more friends.

Instead of striving for mere "togetherness" why don't we all try for "fellowship" with others and better self-knowledge. Especially the latter, as essentially we are ultimately and utterly alone in our innermost being and will always be. Let us desire, and appreciate the value and necessity not of loneliness, but of aloneness.

Standards of Logic Designated Illogical

To the Kaimin:

Re: Mr. John Clark's letter in the Kaimin of May 24.

The illogical logic which Mr. Clark presents in his letter implies that any person who does something the Communists wish to have done is a Communist "dupe." Thus, for example, any person who sincerely attempts to become educated, beyond a mere vocational level, is a Communist dupe simply by virtue of the fact that he is in danger of studying something the Communists may want him to study.

There is a second sinister implication in Mr. Clark's message which must be considered. I question the usefulness of branding persons as being Communist dupes. But assuming that it must be done to preserve the United States in the face of Communism, it must first of all be determined just what it is the Communists want Americans to do before people can be branded as "dupes." I ask you, Mr. Clark, by what standards do you propose to determine such Communistic desires? I submit that whoever has the power to make such decisions and to use them to brand Americans as Communist dupes has a very arbitrary and unlimited power, indeed. And arbitrary power, I believe, has been quite generally recognized in this country's history as un-American; as quite potentially destructive of democracy and basic individual rights.

Finally, I think the Communists would be very happy to see American unity split beyond repair. Therefore, in terms of your own logic, I submit that you yourself are a Communist dupe for waving an emotional flag and preaching that all people are either "for us or against us." By refusing to recognize any categories besides Communist or non-Communists, you yourself will do a very excellent job of producing this great split in American unity and rationality.

Please have no fear, however, since I have no desire to persecute Communist "dupes."

Miss Krubsack received the Beta Epsilon award for the outstanding freshman in home economics. Two memberships to the American Home Economics Association were presented to Miss Loy and Miss Trippet by the Missoula Homemakers' Club and the College Home Economics Club.

Ten women were initiated into Beta Epsilon, home economics honorary.

Atlantic Union Proposal Bill To Be Studied

Students interested in the Atlantic Union Proposal which was passed by Congress last fall may attend a meeting today from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. in Liberal Arts 103.

In September 1960 a bill was passed in Congress calling for a convention of "brains" who would meet with delegates from other NATO countries to explore the means of closer unity. The original resolution called for a consideration of the feasibility of a federation of the free countries beginning with the sponsors of NATO.

Such a proposal was sponsored by the Atlantic Union Committee in 1951, when Evelyn Coope, of the MSU speech department, was national director of the speaker's bureau. The originator of the idea contained in the resolution was Clarence Streit, a native of Missoula and a graduate of MSU. Mr. Streit has written several books proposing a federation of the free countries. His most recent book is "Freedom's Frontier—Union Now."

Robert Van Horne, dean of the pharmacy school, will assume sponsorship of the MSU representatives when Mrs. Coope leaves the MSU campus to take up her duties at the University of Hawaii at the end of spring quarter.

Chairman Hertler Thanks Helpers

To the Kaimin:

As chairman of the Interscholastic Committee I wish to express my appreciation to those faculty members who gave assistance, and to the Maintenance Department, News Service and the students for the enthusiastic support given to making the 55th annual Interscholastic Meet a success.

A great deal of planning, organization and cooperative effort is necessary to carry out the "behind the scenes" jobs to produce smoothly functioning programs of competition and entertainment for about thirteen hundred contestants and a like number of non-contestants on campus. The efforts put forth by student groups to welcome our guests and to "sell our University" are fine examples of school spirit.

Many congratulatory comments have been received about the excellence of the 1961 program. The credit for this success belongs not to the chairman but to the many workers who faithfully contributed time and effort. My thanks go to you.

Wyoming, Air Force to Open Baseball Playoffs in Wyoming

LARAMIE, Wyo., (AP)—Wyoming Cowboys and the Air Force Falcons will open the Region 7 NCAA baseball playoffs here tomorrow at 1 p.m.

Colorado State College at Greeley, winner of the Rocky Mountain Conference for the 19th straight year, drew a bye in the pairings announced Tuesday by University of Wyoming officials who said they were advised by a spokesman for the Skyline Conference commissioner's office in Denver. Commissioner Paul Brechler was not in his office Tuesday, and was not available for comment.

Wyoming won the Skyline Eastern Division title. Brigham Young captured the Western Division crown, but will not compete in the NCAA playoffs.

BYU, operated by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, withdrew from the playoff last year because it would have involved playing on Sunday.

In the playoff's second round, C-State will meet the first game winner at 3 p.m. tomorrow.

Losers of games 1 and 2 will meet Saturday at 10 a.m. Winners of games 2 and 3 will play Saturday at 2 p.m. If a fifth game is necessary, it will be played at 10:30 a.m. Sunday.

The winner of the playoff will compete in the College World Series at Omaha next month.

A game between the All-Fraternity and All-A League teams named in yesterday's Kaimin will be played May 31 if enough players are interested in taking part.

Players whose names were listed on the all-star rosters should notify the Kaimin Sports Editor before Monday if they are interested in participating in the game.

Fraternity and A League umpires who would like to help officiate the game should also call the Kaimin before Monday.

Breakup of Skyline Conference Expected to Be Official Today

PROVO, Utah (AP) — It looks like the Skyline Conference schools will get together to go apart today at their annual spring meeting here.

Four of the eight schools—Utah, Brigham Young, New Mexico and Wyoming—have announced their intention to form another athletic conference with Arizona and Arizona State of the Border Conference.

Brechler To Be Offered New Commissioner Job

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—John Mooney, sports editor of The Salt Lake Tribune, reported Tuesday night that Skyline Conference Commissioner Paul Brechler will be offered a similar job with the new conference of outgoing Skyline and Border Conference schools.

Brechler, who took over as Skyline commissioner only last August, was in Salt Lake City preparing for this week's Skyline Conference meeting in Provo, Utah.

He wasn't available for comment immediately.

Mooney's story did not name the source of his information.

Brechler came to the Skyline from the athletic directorship at University of Iowa.

conference are Denver, Colorado State University, Montana and Utah State.

"We want to know just how the four Skyline schools arrived at the decision," Utah State Athletic Director Hy Hunsaker said.

CSU's athletic director, Bob Davis, said the other day the new alignment is "purely an economic move" and "what we must do is seek to prove ourselves a financial asset" in order "to prove our worth as prospective members of the new conference."

The presidents of the four schools breaking away left the door open for more schools to join. President Tom Popejoy of New Mexico said the six schools could serve as a nucleus for expansion.

It will probably take some years to set up the new league because schedules are set up three to five years in advance and schools must give a year's notice of leaving the conference.

But Hunsaker said Utah State would not sit around and wring its hands. He would not give details Tuesday but said the Aggies had two other alignments in mind—"one of them very desirable."

MSU Is Recipient Of NSF Money For Math Institute

The National Science Foundation has granted $19,590 to the University to conduct an in-service institute for bringing seventh and eighth grade mathematics teachers up to date on mathematics curriculum changes.

The institute, to be directed by W. R. Ballard, assistant professor of mathematics, begins Jan. 8 and will continue until May 20. It will offer instruction in the subject matter of the junior high school mathematics books prepared by the School Mathematics Study Group Mr. Ballard said.

A unique quality of the institute is that classes will be taught in Missoula, Kalispell, Great Falls, Miles City, Glendive and Ellensburg, Wash. Instructors will receive training for teaching in-service institutes while they are doing masters degree work on the MSU campus this summer, Mr. Ballard said.

Each class will have about 20 members taking the course, which will be offered through the University Extension Division and will carry five hours of undergraduate credit. Travel and book expenses will be paid for by the NSF grant.

Participants, which will be selected in the fall, must be seventh or eighth grade mathematics teachers, Mr. Ballard said.

Placement Bureau Job Interviews

The following recruiters will be at the Placement Bureau B-Wing, Jumbo, to interview seniors on the dates listed. Seniors must be registered to be eligible.

Students interested in arranging appointment with any of these representatives should contact the Placement Bureau prior to the interview date.

MAN'S HAREM IS IMPORTANT

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—The newspaper Politika published this:

Several nights ago a fox slipped into Uro Stojkov's hen house at the village of Centa near here. A rooster pecked away and killed it.

Although wounded in the fight to protect the harem, the rooster crowed proudly as the dawn broke, and farmer Stojkov came to take away the dead fox and skin it.
